The Font
1933
... Dedication ...

To the memory of the late Mr. John D. Ryan of New York City, friend and benefactor of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet and of Fontbonne College, in whose honor Ryan Hall was named, this sixth volume of THE FONT is lovingly and gratefully dedicated. . . . . . .

Foreword

We, the staff, lovingly bestow this FONT of 1933 upon you, Fontbonne, and upon your faculty and your classes.... In this small volume, we have striven to catch and to hold such fleeting glimpses of the joys and achievements of our college life as might prove interesting in future years as an aid to fond recollections . . . . . . .

Imagery En Route

Horizon:
Trees perched rakishly
Against a rainbow sky:
Little paper houses
A puff of wind would annihilate:
A wad of mud clumped down—
Why! It's a hill!
The sky a prism
With its point toward Heaven:
Small mirrors
On which tiny leaf-boats glide:
Small gleaming roads
Like faded ribbons.

Sparks

Sparks from the chimney 'gainst ash-gray night,
Little dancing daubs of light
Form for an instant ages long
A pattern, a rhythm, a beat, a song;
Are for an age of an instant's duration
Each a bright red constellation.
Poised like lit rubies on night's slim hands
Forming irregular interesting bands,
A moment I watch them—then pouf! they are gone
When I would they would stay. I linger on
But beauty has fled. New sparks arise, certainly.
They are but sparks.
I cannot even rhyme about them.

Organizations
The Student Association

Pictured above is the Student Council, the executive body of THE STUDENT ASSOCIATION. This body is composed of the presidents of all school organizations and classes, and an elected representative from each class. This group of students shoulders the responsibility of the direction of student government and all things relative to it. Among the various activities which it sponsored was a post-Christmas dance, the proceeds of which were contributed to THE FONT fund.

THE STUDENT ASSOCIATION itself, having as members every student in the college, creates a spirit of unity and strength. Its aim is to foster a friendly co-operation between the student body and the faculty in the furthering of the highest interests of the college. Through its executive body, the Student Council, it functions in matters of student conduct and discipline.

This organization has complete charge of the plans for College Day. This day is celebrated on October 15, the feast of St. Teresa, who is the patroness of the college. After the Mass, the students are guests of the faculty at a luncheon. Then, with cars gaily decorated, they proceed in cap and gown to the big event of the day—a visit to the Mother House of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet.

THE STUDENT ASSOCIATION wished the school a “Merry Christmas” this year with the gift of a mimeograph. It expressed best wishes to the Reverend Mother Agnes on her feast day, January 21, with a spiritual bouquet and a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The Sodality

Pictured below is the Students' Spiritual Council, the executive body of THE SODALITY. It is an organization presided over by the prefect of THE SODALITY and composed of the chairmen of the various SODALITY committees and a spiritual representative elected from each class.

The SODALITY opened an unusually active and profitable year with a "Day of Inspiration," September 27. After hearing Mass, the students attended a series of talks given by the Reverend George A. McDonald, S. J., and Miss Dorothy Willmann of the QUEEN'S WORK. These talks concerned the spiritual side of college life, and were practical rather than theoretical in content.

During Orientation Week, the freshmen were the guests of THE SODALITY at a "Salomon Grundy" party. They were put on probation until December 8, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, and on that day were received as sodalists by the Reverend Frederick J. Spremke, S. T. L., of St. Ann's Shrine. On this day also the prefect was presented with a medal as the symbol of her office.

The sodalists responded loyally to various activities throughout the year. At Christmas, a pound party was given to secure food to fill baskets which were then voluntarily distributed to the needy families of the city. The Mardi Gras party of February 20 was a splendid success. The First Friday of every month sees the members attending Mass and receiving Holy Communion in a body in the college chapel.

An interesting innovation was the news-sheet, DAREWE, which appears every month furnishing news of the various spiritual activities of the college. A group of zealous sodalists under the direction of the Reverend Pierre de La Noy, S. T. D., of the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, formed a Catholic Evidence Guild which meets weekly to study intensively the truths of faith in order to become successful lay apostles.

The sodality year was most impressively and beautifully closed on May Day, May 26, by Agnes Sommer as presiding May Queen.

Phi Beta Chi

The purpose of the Phi Beta Chi, the science club, is to encourage a lively interest in science by keeping its members acquainted with recent advances in related fields. The membership of the club, which now numbers more than twenty-five, is composed of juniors, seniors, and alumnae with majors or minors in physics, biology, or chemistry. Some of the members of the club are also students in the home economics department.

The varied activities of this group bear witness to its success in furthering the cause of science. To accomplish its end, papers are given each month at the regular meetings by members, or by invited lecturers. Two of the most interesting papers given during the year were "A Review of Current Literature Concerning the Rubber Industry," read by Jean Roach, and "Recent Advance in Vitamin Chemistry," presented by Idalee Pollack.

After the business meeting, occurs a social hour at which certain specified members act as hostesses. One of the most important of these social activities is the annual Christmas party, which was a particularly outstanding success this year.

The officers are:

- President: Katherine Tackaberry '32
- Vice-President: Elizabeth McGarry '27
- Secretary: Dorothy Gruber '33

The Footlights Club

The wide popularity of THE FOOTLIGHTS CLUB accounts for its steady growth in membership. Thirty-five girls may now claim active membership in this club.

One of the club's first activities this year was a formal tea given in the dramatic art studio in Ryan Hall on October 20. At Christmas, the club presented as a gift to the college a gray velour cyclorama which now graces the stage of the Fontbonne Little Theatre. Under the able direction of Mrs. Austin Smith Parker, the annual play, "It's a Ming," was presented the evening of April 27 at the hall of the Knights of Columbus. As a fitting reward for this presentation, the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus gave a dance immediately following the performance in honor of the cast, which was as follows:

Agnes ....................................................... Rosemary Michelson
Margaret ..................................................... Marjorie Holton
Marcella ...................................................... Virginia Lucas
Phyllis ........................................................ Josephine Robt
Millie ......................................................... Loretta Gideley
Minnerva ...................................................... Yvonne Stenkiss
Aunt Lucinda ............................................... Rosemary Tuchschmidt
Miss Jones ................................................... Jane Hoffman
Miss Sprockette ............................................ Marian Haas
Nora .......................................................... Berenice Lequerrier

THE FOOTLIGHTS CLUB wishes here to acknowledge its indebtedness and gratefulness to the Fontbonne String Ensemble, which appears at every performance, and which adds greatly to the attractiveness of the programs.

THE FOOTLIGHTS CLUB is a distinct advantage socially, and it affords great opportunities to students possessing, and wishing to develop, stage ability.

The officers are:

President .......................................................... Jean Roach
Vice-President ................................................ Betty Hoffman
Secretary ....................................................... Marie Balsamo
Treasurer ......................................................... Helen Marie Coleman
The Glee Club

The Fontbonne College Glee Club is composed of girls whose love of the “divine art” has urged them to spend some time in studying and interpreting the best songs. Enthusiastic striving and the surmounting of difficulties strongly characterize the group.

Ensemble practices are held weekly, and afterwards, plans are discussed to promote and stimulate interest in music among the other students of the college. The untiring efforts of the members have proved successful in increasing the club’s membership and popularity.

Various programs were given throughout the school year, November 7 marking the initial appearance of the club. This appearance formally opened the National Education Week with a selection of entertaining songs. Later, a recital was given before the student body just previous to the Christmas vacation; and on Christmas Eve the members showed the true Christmas spirit by the singing of traditional Christmas carols at the Park Plaza, Chase, and Kings-Way hotels. The proceeds were donated to the Tuberculosis Society. On April 30, the club was the guest of the Junior Federation of Music Clubs of Missouri, and participated in the Music Festival by the rendition of two numbers.

The final and most inspirational work of the year was the singing of the Gregorian Mass, “Cum Jubilo,” on Baccalaureate Sunday, June 4.

The Press Club

THE PRESS CLUB is one of the most active and progressive organizations of the college. Its aim is to further the interests of Fontbonne through newspaper publicity, and to give practice to those girls interested in newspaper work. Its membership takes in nearly half of the school enrollment; this is surely ample testimony of its popularity.

The activities of the club are various. The members are assigned particular newspapers and are held responsible for the sending of school news to them. Thus even out-of-town newspapers are taken care of, particularly those in the home towns of the boarding students.

THE PRESS CLUB has had a busy year socially, also. The first social function was a visit to the Globe-Democrat newspaper plant. Then on November 10, a colorful formal tea was held in the Fine Arts building. The hostesses were the officers of the club, and Mrs. Fay Proffit, of the Post-Dispatch staff, was one of the guests of honor. On January 28, a very successful card party was held in the cafeteria for the benefit of THE FONT. The social events of the year closed with a talk by Mr. John Riley, managing-editor of the Sunday Watchman, on the present-day need of Catholic women newspaper workers.

Le Cercle de Maupas

The French club, under the guidance of Sister Mary Berchmans, head of the French department, was reorganized in October, 1932, under the name of Le Cercle de Maupas.

The club is named for Henri de Maupas du Tour, bishop of Le Puy and later of Evreux, France. He was successively vicar-general of Rheims and chaplain to Anne of Austria, wife of Louis XIII. Being recognized as one of the greatest preachers of his time, he was a man of great humility, zeal for discipline, and devotion to the Blessed Virgin. The father of the bishop was a distinguished soldier, statesman, litterateur, and counsellor of state to Henry IV. His mother was Anne of Gondi. From his earliest years, the boy showed an inclination toward the service of the altar, and as a member of the illustrious family of Gondi, to which St. Vincent de Paul was attached for a time as preceptor and spiritual guide, he was brought up under the influence of that holy man.

Bishop De Maupas was the first biographer of St. Francis de Sales, whose plan of organizing a congregation of women with simple vows who should devote themselves to the works of teaching and of charity, he heartily approved. He took measures for the organization of such a congregation, and to the Reverend John Paul Medaille, S. J., he confided his plan. Together, in the summer of 1650, they founded the congregation of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet.

Le Cercle de Maupas meets bimonthly. Its meetings are made profitable and entertaining by the discussion of various phases of French literature. Special attention was given this year to Les Chansons de Geste and to the letters of Madame de Sevigne. The singing of old French folk songs, as well as the illustrated lectures on Lourdes and Paris, played an essential and interesting part in these meetings.

The Library Guild

An organization of upper classmen interested in the study and spread of literature was begun this year, and was named THE LIBRARY GUILD. The purpose of THE GUILD is to acquaint its members with prominent worth-while books and to sponsor literary activities.

During the past year, THE LIBRARY GUILD conducted a book drive, calling it "Give-a-Book-Week," in which numerous books of reference and of general reading interest, as well as additions to the collection of early editions, were acquired. It also sponsored a raffle of autographed copies of Abbe Dimnet's popular books: The Art of Thinking and What We Live By. As a member of the Book-of-the-Month Club, THE GUILD is able to obtain outstanding books which are reviewed and discussed by members at the bimonthly meetings. At a recent meeting, Lockhart's British Agent was discussed.

The club not only helps the student to know the most important contemporary literature, but it also affords splendid opportunities for self-expression in the evolution of literary production.

The Daubers

THE DAUBERS is an organization of Fontbonne students who are interested in the field of art. The essential purpose of the club is to maintain the keen interest now upheld by the art department and its students. The activities of the club are numerous and varied.

Excursions to the Art Museum and to private galleries enable the members to keep in contact with the latest and most important happenings in the art world. An exhibit was held for two weeks during April of the popular art works of Mrs. Dorothy Jennings, a St. Louis sculptor and twice winner of the first prize in the sculpture division of the annual Artists’ Guild exhibition.

THE DAUBERS displayed their talents in the beautiful foyer of the Fine Arts Building on May 12. This day was set aside as Fine Arts Day, and the art students, appropriately attired in colorful smocks, acted as hostesses (and, incidentally, interpreters of their various works) to the entire school. From wood blocks to water colors, from color wheels to stage sets, all proved not too wide a range for the talents of the art students. THE FONT congratulates the exhibitors.

It is to be hoped that the club will continue to do its great work in the interest of its members for the furthering of the appreciation and comprehension of art.

The Catholic Students’ Mission Crusade

The activities of the Fontbonne College unit of THE CATHOLIC STUDENTS’ MISSION CRUSADE are of vital importance to each member. The unit has enrolled each Catholic student in the college as a member of THE CRUSADE. It has subscribed to numerous missionary magazines and has made several substantial donations to various undertakings through the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

It has also been active in the remaining of Catholic literature to the Jesuit Missions in Patna, India. This is the unit’s contribution to the work of converting the educated Hindus, in whose hands such literature is often quite an effective means of conversion.

The work of spiritual welfare cannot be overlooked. An enthusiastic drive was held in order to initiate the practice of giving the Missions a share in Masses, Holy Communions, prayers, and other good works. Posters were constant reminders of the duty to build up the spiritual wealth of THE CRUSADE.

Some interesting lectures were given, among them being an illustrated one presented by the Maryknoll Sisters. Miss Marian Haas, a sophomore in the college, gave the students the opportunity to view motion pictures of the Far East. She had compiled these films from actual scenes observed during her extensive tour of the mission fields last spring.

The officers are:

- President: Margaret Barth
- Vice-President: Alice Wahl
- Secretary-Treasurer: Marian Haas

ACTIVITIES
May Day

Fontbonne celebrated its annual May Day on Friday, May 26, at four o’clock. Agnes Sommer, a member of this year’s graduating class, was chosen May Queen by the student body, and presided over the social and religious exercises of the day.

Maids of honor to the queen were Vera LoPiccolo, also a member of the present senior class; Margaret Barth, a junior; Catherine Cowhey, a sophomore; Rosemary Michelson, a member of the freshman class.

The ceremonies began with a procession of the student body in cap and gown, the queen and her maids-in-waiting, the daisy chain bearers, the May pole dancers, and the carriers of the flower bower, to the throne erected at the extreme southwest end of the campus. There the queen was crowned by Betty Rapp, prefect of the sodality.

The president and vice-president of each class carried the flower bower through which the queen and her maids passed before the coronation. They were: Margaret Sleater, Mayde Murphy, Vivian Scruby, Mary Jane Finney, Alma Tackaberry, Jane Hoffman, Virginia Lucas, and Virginia Kelahan.

Students who had been chosen to carry the daisy chain before the queen and her maids were: Jean Roach, Lorene Kavanaugh, Eleanor Carey, Eleanor Settles, Anne Catherine Meyer, Kathleen Durbin, Annette LoPiccolo, Katherine Grover, Marian Haas, Elma Colgan, Kathryn Wahl, Ellen Finney, Grace Houck, Melba Durbin, Lorraine Korte, and Clementine Hoffmann.

The procession then proceeded to St. Joseph’s chapel in Ryan Hall where the newly-crowned May Queen crowned the statue of the Blessed Virgin. There ceremonies were concluded by a May Day sermon delivered by the Reverend Blase J. Sheffer, of the church of St. Aloysius, followed by benediction.
St. Louis University Prom

On April 25, Mary Evelyn McKenna of the junior class of Fontbonne was crowned queen of the St. Louis University Conclave Prom.

This is the third time that a queen has been chosen from Fontbonne. The first queen was Agnes Collins, '29, now Mrs. Fabian J. Burke. The second Fontbonne student elected queen was Julia Moloney, '31.

However, Mary Evelyn McKenna next year will be the fourth retiring queen proudly claimed by our college. Bernice Simpson, '28, now Mrs. Walter Coffey, was crowned queen while a student at Visitation Academy, and retired as a junior at Fontbonne.

The queen, who has lovely titian hair, wore a gown of white mousseline de soie. The dress was patterned on princess lines with a high neckline and puffed sleeves. The skirt flared out into many ruffles which formed a short train. Over this she wore the traditional coronation robe of red velvet studded with rhinestones and trimmed in ermine. She carried a bouquet of talisman roses.

She was preceded to the throne by her maids of honor, each accompanied by a Conclave man. Queen Mary Evelyn was escorted by Martin Gorman, president of the Student Conclave of the University. The spectators from the balconies then witnessed the event of the evening, the coronation of the queen of 1933.

After the coronation ceremonies, the queen and her court viewed the entertainment prepared especially for them. Then the dancing continued.

The queen was one of the eleven maids elected to represent the different schools and colleges of the University. She was Fontbonne's representative. In February, she was elected queen by a secret ballot of the Student Conclave of the University, and her identity as queen was withheld until she made her appearance on the floor in the regal robes. As is customary, she will reign as queen for the entire year, retiring at the '34 prom.
The Junior Prom

The Junior Prom is an annual affair given by the junior class in honor of the senior class. The whole school is invited to attend, and the seniors are the guests of honor.

This year introduced an innovation in prom history, as the prom was not held at the college. The increasingly large attendance at this most important social function of the school year made it impossible to hold it as usual in the Fine Arts building of the college. The Gold Room of the Hotel Jefferson was the scene of this social event which took the form of a dinner-dance, and was held on the evening of February 24.

Vivian Scruby, president of the junior class, led the formal promenade, followed by Margaret Sleater, president of the senior class. During this promenade, favors were distributed. These favors were silver compacts and silver pocket-knives bearing the college crest. A brief floor-show served as an intermission in the evening's dancing.

The prom of '33 will long be remembered because of its novelty of execution and its large and gay attendance. May there be many more such proms!
The Athletic Association

Below is seen the sophomore basketball team, the winners of the silver trophy donated by the Fathers' Club. This same class won the trophy as freshmen last year.

Basketball is probably the most popular sport at Fontbonne, but it is not the only sport sponsored by THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION. Volleyball, baseball, swimming, tennis, hockey, archery, horseback-riding, track, and dancing are some of the other sports under the auspices of this large organization.

THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION awards track letters and small and large college letters. These coveted "Fs" are won by the point system, 500 and 1,000 points being needed for the small and large "Fs" respectively. These points are gained through participation in class teams or in other sport events.

This organization aims to make each member worthy of the title "a good sport". It teaches the graceful acceptance of defeat or victory, and of all disciplinary measures and decisions made in competitive events.

Little Theatre

Although only in its first year, the Little Theatre has become quite well known in St. Louis as a rather unique feature of college education at Fontbonne.

This group has had the privilege of entertaining as guests the Reverend Daniel A. Lord, S. J., Miss Marguerite Breen, and Mr. Robert Middlemans, who addressed the student body on various phases of pageantry, costuming, and dramatics. These guests came primarily to inspect the exhibit of thirty miniature stages made and electrically equipped by the members of the department.

Under the direction of Mrs. Austin Smith Parker, three series of short plays, some of them written by the students, were presented at evening performances, and on May 12 was the outstanding production of the year. It was Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland", adapted for the theatre by Helen Moran and Helen Marie Coleman, sophomore members of the dramatic art department. The text of the original 1866 edition was followed faithfully.

The cast was as follows:

Alice ............................ Betty Rapp

Home Economics Department

Four years ago this department made its initial appearance in two rooms on the third floor of the Fine Arts Building. From this small beginning, it has grown so rapidly that it was necessary this year to move the department to Science Hall, where the entire third floor is given over to the study of home economics.

The formal opening of this new department was held on November 20, when over five hundred guests called between the hours of two and five and visited the department. In the department is found, as a special feature, a complete apartment or model suite consisting of a living-room, dining-room, and kitchen. On this floor also are the food laboratories, the diet kitchens, the experimental laboratories, the designing room, the serving rooms, the office, and the practice bedroom where special courses in home nursing and first aid are given.

Majors and minors are offered in dietetics, food and nutrition, clothing, and textiles. The course leads to a degree of bachelor of science in home economics, affording thorough training for those who will assume the responsibilities of a home, enter the teaching profession or business world, or engage in hospital or social work.
The Alumnae Association

The first event on the current year's record of the Fontbonne Alumnae Association is the marriage of its present president, Loretta Hennelly, '29, to J. Donald Gunn, brother of Catharine Gunn, '28, which took place late in August. Shortly afterwards, Helen Trenn, '31, became the bride of Edmund Cummins, and on Thanksgiving Day Agnes Collins, '29, married Dr. Fabian J. Burke. May 3 saw the wedding in Jefferson City of Mary Kiely, '29, and John E. Riley, Jr., brother of Eleanor Riley, '32, and the next day, May 4, Marie Antoinette Grover became Mrs. Russell T. Niemeier. Then Mary Louise Mee, '27, became Sister Mary Lucy of the Congregation of the Sisters of Mercy of the Holy Cross of Merrill, Wisconsin.

In early fall, the alumnae were notified of the arrival of a new godson, Edward Glenister Stevens, Jr., the son of Florentine Rutkowski Stevens, '27.

With the first meeting of the year, plans were made for the members to meet every Friday evening in the Fontbonne gymnasium. There they played basketball, tennis, baseball, and ping pong, the evening always ending with a plunge in the adjoining pool.

The first big social event of the year was the production of "The Brass Fender", by Mrs. Austin Smith Parker, the evening of October 20. Shortly after the New Year's celebrations, there was a silver tea-dance given in the Fine Arts Building. Then occurred the annual ball at the Hotel Chase in honor of the seniors of '33.

The alumnae attended Mass and received Holy Communion on April 23, with the Reverend Leo Steck as celebrant. After this, they had breakfast in the boarders' dining-room. On May 26, the graduating class of '33 was initiated into the association.

The annual election of officers, which took place on May 7, had these results:
