Dedication
As the reflections cast by the setting sun paint dancing shadows on the stained-glass chapel windows, we are filled with apprehension as we consider how fleeting are the joyous days of our college life. All too quickly we pass through the four years at Fontbonne gathering what we can of the rich traditions and ideals which are offered to us. In you, the class of '38, we see reflected the highest virtues and characteristics to be found in a college graduate. We shall think often of you as we pass through our remaining years at Fontbonne, whose ivy-covered walls stand in mute testimony of the devotion of a decade of loyal alumnæ. It is with this thought in mind that we lovingly dedicate this book to you, the Senior Class.

St. Louis U. Prom

Kay McDonough
Retiring Queen
St. Louis U. Prom

Fontbonne was again well-represented at the St. Louis University Conclave Prom, highlight of the university and corporate college social season. Kathryn McDonough, president of the Fontbonne senior class, made her last regal entrance as retiring queen, relinquishing her crown to the reigning queen, Miss Miriam Printy.

Mary Margaret Shackelford, junior, was the choice of the senior class to represent Fontbonne. The commerce and finance day school selected Rosemary Walsh, junior, for their representative. Virginia Shamleffer, senior, was the maid from the commerce and finance night school. Fontbonne maids from the court of the retiring queen who led the promenade were Mary Lou Sackbauer, '38, Dorothy Morse, A.B., '37, and Mercedes Lyons, '34.

The prom was held this year, February 21, in the university gymnasium, which was bedecked in the royal blue and white canopy for the occasion. Hal Kemp and his orchestra lent the rhythmic touch to make this affair successful and long-remembered.
Fontbonne
Junior Prom

The annual Junior Prom was received with as much enthusiasm as ever this year when invitations from the junior class were given to the seniors, sophomores, and freshmen. Girls in colorful formals and flowers of every hue arrived with their escorts at the Missouri Athletic Association at 8:00 p.m., February 24.

Dinner was served in the candle-lit dining rooms to the piano music of Buddy Duddy. After dinner Herb Mahler's orchestra played for dancing. In the middle of the program, Charlotte Bussmann, president of the junior class, presented a bouquet of yellow tea roses to Kathryn McDonough, president of the senior class. Then Marie Sack, vice-president of the juniors, presented Charlotte with a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Miss Bussmann and her escort, Edward Gund, then led the promenade. Finally reaching the souvenir table, the girls received gold charm bracelets, containing a small gold charm on which the Fontbonne crest was engraved. This bracelet matches the necklaces given at last year's prom.

Brown leather zipper key-cases, also engraved with the Fontbonne crest in gold, were presented to the boys.
May Day

In keeping with Catholic Action, May Day, Wednesday, May 11, was kept as an entirely religious celebration. Starting with Mass at 8:00 a.m., celebrated by Rev. John J. Taugh, C.M., the coronation of Fontbonne's thirteenth May Queen, Jane O'Connell, took place at 4:40 p.m. on the north campus. The Queen ascended the throne in the presence of the faculty, the entire student body and their friends, and was crowned by Mary Lou Sackbauer, president of the Student Association. When the activities were over, the new sodality officers were then installed by the ceremony of the transference of the Sodality medal from Jane O'Connell to Betty Sturrock, her successor as prefect; the constitution from Betty Sturrock to Hope Davis, the new vice-prefect; the minute book from Hope Davis to Kay Disch, the 1938-39 secretary-treasurer.

The Queen was attended by two maids from each class: Marie Herminghaus and Clara Aylward, seniors; Rosemary McCarthy and Mary Jane Helm, juniors; Dorothy Dugan and Kay Desmond, sophomores; Lee Maguire and Anne Swanger, freshmen. The senior maids to the May Queen wore pink semi-formal gowns; the juniors, blue; the sophomores, yellow; and the freshmen, green. They carried bouquets of spring flowers which were in contrast with the colors of their gowns. The traditional daisy chain was carried by four representatives from each class.

After the procession and coronation, services were held in St. Joseph's Chapel, where the May Queen placed a garland of flowers on the statue of Our Blessed Mother. The Rev. Emmett Crane, C.S.S.R., delivered the May Day address. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament closed the ceremonies.
Drama

Seated: Virginia Lee Cafferata and Marcella Carlton.
Standing: Dorothy Dugan.

Students in the dramatic art department contributed much to the cultural life of the college. Three major plays were presented by these students. Faculty, friends, and faculty who attended the productions were enthusiastic about the choice of plays and the able portrayals of the actresses. The season was opened with Bethlehem, a Christmas story, written by Lawrence Housman. This play was presented, December 16. The leading roles were played by Valerie Brinkman, as the Blessed Virgin Mary, and Marguerite Roduit, as St. Joseph.

The second production, Artichokes for Dinner, a modern three-act comedy, by Linsay Barber, was produced March 1. Dorothy Dugan, Virginia Lee Cafferata, and Marcella Carlton enacted the roles of the three young girls whose adventures were portrayed in the plot. Only members of the Footlights Club were in the cast of Artichokes for Dinner, as the play was purely a project of the dramatic club.

Shakespeare’s As You Like It, a final production, is now being rehearsed for a performance June 7. Orlando, the principal male part, will be played by Marguerite Roduit; Rosalind, the feminine lead, by Joy Locke. Miss Belle Marie Mullins, director of the dramatic art department, has been in charge of all productions.
Horse Show

The Fifth Annual Fontbonne Spring Horse Show was held, May 6 and 7, at the Missouri Stables Arena. Miss Charlotte Lowther, athletic director and head of the physical education department in the college, and Miss Alma Tackaberry, who occupies the same position in St. Joseph’s Academy, directed the show. General chairmen were: Mrs. Henry Kersting, president of the Fontbonne Mothers’ Club, and Edward Coff, president of the Fontbonne Fathers’ Club.

Catherine Burmeister was chairman of all college entries.
HAVANA, Cuba, was the destination for the second annual Fontbonne tour. Starting Easter Monday, April 18, the trip ended Friday, April 29. The schedule was the following:

Monday . . Left Union Station, 10:30 p.m.

Tuesday . . Traveled through Kentucky, Tennessee, and Georgia, stopping in Nashville, Chattanooga, and Atlanta.

Wednesday . . Arrived in Jacksonville, Fla. Visited St. Augustine and left for Miami.

Thursday . . Arrived in Miami, where the picture was taken.

Saturday, Sunday, Monday . . Spent in Havana.

Monday . . Left for Key West.

Tuesday . . Arrived in St. Petersburg. Left for Tampa.

Wednesday . . Arrived in Tampa. Returned to Atlanta.

Thursday . . Homeward Bound!

Friday . . Fontbonne . . !
The Fontbonne Student Association is the largest organization in the school, embracing every lay student enrolled in the college. Its officers conduct the assembly period every Monday, and arrange many all-school activities. The first notable event of the year was College Day, an affair annually celebrated on October 15, the Feast of St. Teresa of Avila, consisting of Mass, freshman cap and gown investiture, luncheon, award of prizes for best decorated cars, and parade and visit to Carondelet. The large Christmas party held in the gym reflected most creditably upon the Association, with an enjoyable evening of student entertainment and the presentation of gifts to the faculty members by Santa Claus. At Baccalaureate Services, the retiring Student Association president transferred the school banner to the new president.

Resident Students' Association

The resident students were governed by Mildred Lottes, president; Virginia Smith, vice-president; Marjorie Braymer, secretary-treasurer. Their first activity was a Hallowe'en dance given in Fine Arts Hall. The spring weiner roast and picnic were well attended, and the boarders enjoyed many swimming parties during the year. At the end of every month the students were guests at a formal birthday dinner which commemorated all the birthdays occurring during the month. A special banquet was also given every Wednesday evening. Twelve states were represented among the members of the association: Georgia, Alabama, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Arkansas, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kansas, Indiana, Tennessee, and Missouri.

Delta Phi

The art sorority under the leadership of Kay Higgins as president; Virginia Ottsen, vice-president; and Mary Helen Drummond, secretary-treasurer, had an active season of work and play. A Hallowe'en costume party, a Christmas party, and a Bohemian supper at which six new members were initiated were enthusiastically attended by all the members. Among the projects sponsored during the year were the sale of Christmas cards, designed and cut in linoleum blocks for printing by the girls, the construction of novel wooden belts with original designs painted on them, and the making of beach clogs. It also assisted other campus organizations by making posters for their activities.
Sodality of Our Lady

JANE O'CONNELL

The Sodality, the most important spiritual organization in the school, accomplished many glorious things during the school year. It sponsored the reception of the new members on December 3, the Missa Recitata at the First Friday Masses every month and the Guard of Honor for exposition on those days, the food and clothing drives at Thanksgiving and Christmas, Vocation Week, and a questionnaire on Catholic literature during Catholic Press Month. It took an active part in the Third National Catechetical Congress during October, and the Seventh Students' Spiritual Leadership Convention during March. It likewise participated in the fish fry, "Basket Ball," and steak fry given by the St. Louis College Sodality Union. Its final activity was May Day, on which Jane O'Connell, prefect for the year 1937-38, was crowned May Queen. Betty Sturrock served as vice-prefect during the year, and Hope Davis as secretary-treasurer.

Phi Beta Chi

CECILIA REICHERT

PHI BETA CHI, the organization devoted to the furtherance of interest in science, is open for membership to major and minor students in chemistry and biology.

The outstanding activity of the year was the compilation of the booklet, Who's Who in Science in Missouri, which will be published in the autumn. At the convention of the American Academy of Science, held at Rolla, Missouri, in April, which many members attended, an abstract of the project was read. An excerpt from the thesis of Virginia Shamleffer, '38, "A Tribute to the Scientists of Missouri," was also read at the convention. The club closed its activities for the year with a luncheon in honor of the students eligible for membership next year. The officers for the past year were Cecilia Reichert, B.S., '37, president; Elouise Matlock, B.S., '37, vice-president; Marcella Carlton, secretary; and Frances Dolan, B.S., '37, treasurer.
Home Economics Club

This club, open to all students in the Home Economics Department, was organized in 1937 and has progressed rapidly since that time. During this past year, it was served by Virginia Miller as president; Mary Margaret McKean, vice-president; Catherine Disch, treasurer; Mary Ward, secretary. A very successful card party was given last fall at Scruggs, Vandervort & Barney Tea Room. The proceeds were used to defray the expenses of a new dining room set for the model apartment. Among the social events of the year were a covered-dish party in honor of the freshmen, the formal initiation of the new members, and a picnic in Forest Park during May. The most important project of the year was the establishment of a shelf of books in the library as a memorial to Sister Rose Beatrice and Ethel Daly, the first director and first graduate of the Home Economics Department, respectively.

Sigma Beta Mu

The students interested in music have an enviable record of achievement in the activities of Sigma Beta Mu during the past year. At each meeting, the life and works of a different composer were discussed and some of his compositions played. Miss Alma Wibbing and Hubert Kempa, singers, appeared as guests at different times during the year. On the night of Monday, March 14, Edward Collins, the noted pianist, gave a concert in the Fontbonne Little Theatre. On March 22, the St. Louis Symphony String Quartet presented a program for the faculty and students. During the course of the year, the Seashore Music Talent Tests were given to about 400 parochial school children throughout the city. The club also purchased a portable electric Victrola for the music department and donated $200 toward the purchase of a new grand piano. The officers who served during the year were Antoinette Bafunno, president; Kathleen Sloan, vice-president, and Rosario Cento, secretary-treasurer.
Press Club

THE Press Club, closely allied to the publication staff, served the school during the past year by handling all announcements and publicity for school activities.

Besides its work, it entertained the new students at a treasure hunt during Orientation Week, and gave a delightful supper for all the members during Thanksgiving Week. The officers for the year were Virginia Shamleffer, president; Anne Harrison, vice-president; Angela Hannagan, secretary; and Marian Clark, treasurer. Its final activity was the formal presentation of the senior edition of the "Font" to the graduates.

International Relations Club

THE International Relations Club organization has for its purpose the stimulation of interest in current events. It is affiliated with the Catholic Association for International Peace and the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace. In November, Professor Lawrence Tillmann of the department of modern languages of St. Louis University addressed the club upon conditions in Germany, where he had just completed a year's residence, and in January, Mr. Richard Cross of the Catholic Worker staff explained the functioning of his organization. At other meetings, debates on the justice of the Japanese-Chinese conflict and on naval armament were presented. The officers for the year were Angie Boschert, president; Virginia Comer, vice-president; Dorothy Dugan, secretary; and Virginia Dumphy, treasurer.
Poetry Club

RUTH
KANE

The Poetry Club, a comparatively new organization in the school, accomplished much during this past year. It sponsored the lecture of Miss Katherine Brégy, president of the Catholic Poetry Society of America, who addressed the entire student body on "Catholic Poets." Following the talk a formal tea was given in Miss Brégy's honor. Membership in the society was increased to thirty-five this year, and at various meetings original poems of the members were read and discussed. It was under the guidance of Ruth Kane as president; Eleanor Amend vice-president; Kathleen Sloan, secretary; and Mary Job, treasurer.

French Club

MARGUERITE
RODUIT

After the departure of Sister M. Berchmans for Columbia University, "Le Cercle de la Conversation Française" was taken over by Sister Frederic. The officers did their share in kindling interest in the French language. For this year they were: president, Marguerite Roduit; vice-president, Mary Job; secretary, Hope Davis; and treasurer, Mary Jane Helm.

The monthly meetings, though varied, have had the same fundamental theme—Parisian customs. Miss Caroline Morrell, guest speaker, opened the season with an account of her trip abroad. Works of French authors, songs, and current topics were part of every session. The membership included ten who are majoring or minoring in French.
Fontbonne Athletic Association

Bernice Becker

This organization for students interested in athletic activities has a large roster of active members who accomplished much during the past year. A gala Hallowee’en party, at which the new members were received, opened the season. Then during the year, the intramural basketball and volleyball tournaments were sponsored by the association. Field Day was the final athletic project of the year, and the day closed with a box supper. Some valuable contributions were made to the equipment of the department from the F. A. A. treasury. The last social event was a banquet at which the past presidents of the association were guests of honor. Various awards and trophies were distributed, including letters and numerals to the girls who had merited them. The officers who so successfully guided the club were Bernice Becker, president; Evelyn Papin, vice-president; Kay Flynt, secretary, and Emily Ochman, treasurer.

The Footlights Club

Marguerite Roduit

Miss Belle Marie Mullins, new sponsor of the Footlights Club, was assisted by the following officers: president, Marguerite Roduit; vice-president, Jeanette Young; secretary, Rosemary McCarthy; treasurer, Eunice Burtt.

On October 8, thirteen new members were initiated at a candle-light tea, and for the next two months regular meetings were held. Rehearsals then began for the Christmas play, “Bethlehem,” by Lawrence Housman, which was presented, December 20. February found the members preparing for “Artichokes for Dinner,” a three-act comedy, which was given on March 1. The final activity of the year was a breakfast at Hotel Melbourne, held in June.
Glee Club and Orchestra

Both organizations gave joint concerts during the year. The first was at a school assembly on the Feast of St. Cecelia, patroness of music and the Fine Arts. A public concert was given the evening of January 11, marking the close of the first semester. Another joint program was given on the occasion of the Golden Jubilee of Reverend Mother Rose Columba, March 21. Previous to this, the Glee Club sang backstage for the Christmas play, "Bethlehem," and caroled publicly on Christmas Eve. As its last work of the year the Glee Club furnished the music for the Baccalaureate Program and Commencement Exercises, both of which are solemn benedictions. Kathleen Sloan is president, and Catherine Knaapen, librarian. Sister Marie de Lourdes is director.

The officers of the orchestra are: Victoria Kerner, president; Grace Canepa, librarian; Mr. Alfred Hicks of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, conductor.

Students' Mission Crusade

The Catholic Students' Mission Crusade has done much charity work during the past season. As a special project for the year, they adopted the new St. Joseph's Catholic Colored High School, to which they gave several large pictures of St. Joseph. During the Thanksgiving vacation they gave a dramatic entertainment for the blind. With the help of Sister Eleanor, their moderator, the members sent out numerous magazine subscriptions, including the Sacred Heart Messenger and the Sign, to prison hospitals, CCC camps, and missionary priests. At Christmas time, the resident students belonging to the club adopted a negro baby, and at Easter they adopted a Chinese baby. Some of the lectures given at the weekly assembly were also sponsored by the Mission Club, one of which was the moving picture and lecture of Rev. Paul Schulte, O.M.I., the "Flying Priest."

Officers are: Elise Dubuque, president; Bernice Becker, vice-president; Rosemary McCarthy, secretary-treasurer.

That she’s arrestingly lovely in the daytime, and at night she’s a “femme fatale.”

WE KNOW . . .
She buys stunning clothes at Suzanne’s.

IT’S NO SECRET . . .
When she walks down the street, assured,
When she dazzles at a dance, admired,
When her especial beau says, “Lovely!”
It’s no secret where she buys her clothes
. . . Suzanne’s!

Your clothes allowance goes much farther at
Suzanne’s, where a modest budget does wonders.

Congratulations are in order!

A year book is more than a series of printed pages bound into a cover.

It is the result of hours of thought, and weeks of patient, persistent effort.

Your staff has accepted and discharged a real responsibility, and we feel sure that you who turn these pages and re-live the events of the year just passed will join us in congratulating them.

Your staff is to be commended in its choice of the Britt Printing and Publishing Company to produce this beautiful book, for they considered carefully the ability, co-operation and craftsmanship of the various printers prior to the signing of their contract. The book, its make-up, and the clarity of the pictures proves conclusively that their choice was a wise one.

It has been a pleasure to co-operate with the staff and faculty sponsors in producing this book.
