Mrs. Francis Sheed, Prominent Author, Gives Interview After Neuman Lecture

Grand-daughter of "Ideal" Ward,
On Fourth Tour of United States, To Publish New Book.

Mrs. Sheed, wife and partner of Francis Sheed of the Sheed and Ward Publishing Company, London, New York, confided to a sympathetic audience at Fontbonne on October 17, that the rhythm and swing of the Sonderland sisters has moved her into a dance-step for the season. Now, she has read Jane Austen at least twenty books.

After Mrs. Sheed's lecture on "Newman and the Oxford Movement, and Newman's Relation to John Henry Newman," she is on her fourth tour of the United States.
She had just come from New York and "I have no home there," Mrs. Sheed explained, "my home is in London as it should be to a poet or scholar or anything else.

Mrs. Sheed's "spiritual mentor was "William George Ward, one of the first converts of the Oxford Movement, who for thirty years urged an interest in mysticism, meditating, handicap, half-way that his "relative" woman - the Newman she admired - in an effort to highlight his decision to join the Church, the following describes as a "terrible, cruel, old man, who was afraid of the mind of an angelic child in the body of a human being." Their new book, The

THE ATTLETT ALKS.......

Sister Alfred was explaining in the logic that the last type of division in education into individuals. "Therefore," she said, "if I were selling people according to their service, I'd be in trouble, as I said, but with the balance, as you can see, that the service and the people are a part of the education."

"Where shall I sleep today?" asked a classmate. "I'm going to sleep in the attic tonight."

Members of the club in the Newman Society met many complaints for their intelligent questions asked Mrs. Blodgett after her lecture on "New Jerusalem Treaty:"

"Yes, I have no sense of balance in these voices. Sometimes I'm not sure if it's the actual voice or the movement of the class." Sister Blodgett continued.

Honor Guard of Sadie's Assembly for Devotions

The party to honor Sadie's assembly for devotions was held on October 26, 1954, in the gymnasium. The event was attended by Sadie's family, friends, and community members. The party included games, food, and entertainment. Sadie is a member of the Sadie's assembly, which is a group of students who are dedicated to devotions and prayer. The event was a way to recognize and celebrate Sadie's dedication to her faith and her community.
Classical Club Present Horace for Discussion

Catherine Scullin, member of the committee in charge of the monthly feature, read a paper on "The Life and Education of Horace" at the first meeting of the Classical Club, October 21, 1934. The three correlative lectures and the discussion combined to make the club, with each meeting presenting a new feature at the monthly meeting in the form of a paper, discussion, or readings from the classics. "The Humanistic Horace" will be the topic of discussion for the next meeting in celebration of the two thousandth anniversary of the birth of the Roman poet, December 8, 1935. Students of Greek or Latin and all those interested are invited to attend.

Following Catherine Scullin's paper there was a discussion led by Virginia Robinson of Mariyville. Miss Robinson's paper was "The Social and Political Background of Horace." It was delivered by Robert Eakin and was also followed by discussions, led by Mary C. McKenna of Mariyville. Miss Robinson, a student of Webster, had as her topic "The Social and Political Background of Horace." Her address was followed by a discussion led by Mrs. Stanford of the Webster Club. Students of Greek or Latin and all those interested are invited to attend.

The officers for the year are: president, Patricia Doyle, Webster College; vice-president, Catherine Scullin, Fontbonne College; secretary, Henry Holman, St. Louis University; treasurer, Mrs. O'Connell, Mariyville College.

HOME ECONOMICS CLASS MAKES INSPECTION TOUR

The class in institutional management of the home economics department took several short trips recently in order to become acquainted with the practical side of their subject. The St. Joseph's General Hospital and Furniture Co. were visited by the class as it is well known for its coupon management and modern equipment.

The visits to St. Mary's, Bellevue, and Christian Brothers' hospitals, Grand and Chiapero, served to acquaint the future members of the St. Joseph's Student Nurses' Association with the various phases of their proposed careers and in addition helped to fill the minds of every operating room.

All members of classes in foods attended the Glebe-Democrat Cooking School conducted recently at Washington University by Miss Jessie de Buech. A former student of the School of St. Joseph at their first camp in Green Bay, Wisconsin, a French and Italian student, which was sponsored by St. Louis Theological Miss de Buech has been placed in the home economics department for the use and convenience of its members.
