Next Year—What?

Few of us would venture to predict the nature of our activities in the next year or so. Looking about us to see the strange,icks fate is playing in upsetting our conception of the social order and of intellectual and artistic activity. The depression was greatest of the host colleges are working in filing stations and in grocery stores. Girls who majored in history, for instance, may be seen working as clerks in any of the large department stores.

It would seem then, that the economic depression which is afflicting the entire nation is not over either worse or near. The situation is very serious because the national government has not taken the necessary steps to prevent a new depression. If the government does not take action, the situation will continue to worsen.

If you don't read the Font more carefully, you'll put too much emphasis on the advertising staff.

Advice to students: Please don't put too much emphasis on the advertising staff.

Even the most skeptical were impressed when the red telephone appeared at the front door of the dormitory. Some student was not sure if the phone was not adaptable for conversational purposes. Still the wait is very unpleasant.
