College Mourns Deaths of Two Teachers

Sisters Leonilla and Estella Trupelle in Biology and Speech in Dupu, respectively.

Fortunate last two members of their pioneer faculty when Sister M. Leonilla, RSCJ, and Sister M. Estella, RSCJ, passed away. Oct. 30, 1957, Misses Mary B. Tinkham, professor of English, and Sister B. Claire, RSCJ, both former teachers in the department, offered a special prayer for the deceased sisters.

Dean Announces New Professors On Faculty List

With the opening of school, Sister Luci Maria, Prince, announced the addition to the faculty: Rev. Emerent Gough, C.S.C., for Religious in English; and Mary C. C. O'Sullivan, New England, for English.

Dean's Message

Another scholastic year has begun. We welcome each student, new and old, to our school. Four years at Fontbonne is a time to gain knowledge and to make the most of our time and to make the most of our time. To make the most of our time, we need a good education. To make the most of our time, we need a good education. To make the most of our time, we need a good education. To make the most of our time, we need a good education. To make the most of our time, we need a good education. To make the most of our time, we need a good education.

IN MEMORIAM

The most poignant sorrow of life is caused by the departure of friends. Recently, two former students of this college, May Alice Donelson and Lucille Estelle, both of whom had been associated with this college, passed away. May had been a loyal student and a dedicated member of the faculty, while Lucille had been a devoted friend. Both had been a vital part of the constant growth of this institution, and their loss is felt deeply by all.

IN BLACK ON WHITE WILL THE ANSWER BE?

To the casual observer, the most amazing fact in the recent development is the privacy of the hooded robed—the Hooded Robed of the Supreme Court. The robe is the symbol of the Supreme Court, and it is worn by all the justices. The robe is black, and it covers the body completely, from head to toe. It is made of silk and satin, and it is decorated with gold embroidery. It is a symbol of the justice and dignity of the courts, and it is worn by all the justices as a sign of their authority.

1937 Graduates Seek New Triumphs

In Old Fields, Success To Them

Have you ever asked yourself: “What is the meaning of life?” and received an answer of, “I don’t know?” These are the questions that our graduates are now asking themselves. They are searching for a sense of purpose in their lives, and they are seeking to answer these questions in order to find their own path.

SINCERELY YOURS

Dear Jean,

We've been on the road for a month now, and I must say, we've had our share of adventures. The most recent one was when we ended up in a small village in the middle of nowhere. None of us knew what to expect, but we found ourselves surrounded by friendly locals who were more than willing to help us.

Cordially,

JOAN

The Wisdom of Essays

When President Lincoln visited St. Louis, he was received with great enthusiasm. He was a symbol of hope and progress, and his message of peace and unity resonated with the people.

Shady, Matthew says: “An eagle's wings are a half-step too far to the person who believes the other half.”

When the president of the Catholic university sent a congratulatory note to the new graduates, he spoke of the importance of education, and he praised them for their dedication and hard work.
Hurry up, you'll be late! Ruth Treson from Marion, Ill., on the right, looks like she's very happy to be here. So does Ned Hayley, who comes from Sedalia, Mo.

It looks like it's hard work, doesn't it? In this case, looks are not deceiving. Sr. Eileen, professor in the history department, sends a helping hand to Virginia Dunic, East St. Louis, Ill., and Eleanor Amann, Madison, Ill.; Mary Margaret Fiske, Peoria, Kan., and Betty Suddard, La Grange, Ga.

In Front Of The Capitol On The First Annual Fontbonne Tour

Don't they look happy? And why not! They won second prize for the decorations on their car on College Day last year. They are, from left to right: Jeannette Young, Evelyn Papio, Emily O'Keheny, Virginia Powell, owner of the car, Mary Job, and Billy Anne Delchateau at the wheel.

Don't this bring back memories? We had a grand time on our spring vacation last year. This picture was taken in front of the Capitol in Washington, D.C. Plans are now being made for the trip this year. How does this sound to you: New Orleans, Florida—maybe Bermuda, or even Cuba! Who knows?

Scrabbles About Styles

By Dorothy Cott.

For too long a time we college girls have been finding it necessary to steal style from others for our collections, only to find that the result of our efforts have been of no material benefit to the college girls in their future classes of style at events.

Many clubs, including the Scrabble Club, have taken up the challenge of creating their own style. They have started by gathering ideas from various sources and then combining them to create a unique style that reflects their personality.

Musician Sell Student Tickets For Symphony

Regular season subscriptions are now available for the new season of the Symphony Orchestra, which begins in September. Tickets are being sold for $10 per concert, with discounts available for students. The orchestra will feature a variety of performances, including classical, contemporary, and world music.

Classes Elect New Officers At Meetings

Junior, Mary E. P. Hearn, was elected president of the Drama Club. She was nominated by her classmates and received a majority of the votes. Her classmates are confident that she will do an excellent job in leading the club.
