Brazil's New Government

By Alphonse H. Czernich, Head of the Department of Sociology

One of the least popular and most controversial national governments in recent history has been the Brazilian government. The present government is a military dictatorship, with a president elected by the armed forces who is not subject to popular election. This situation has led to a high degree of political instability and has made it difficult for the country to achieve economic and social progress.

Nothing Like Service!

How many of you have ever been to a show at night and found yourself sitting in the dark, reaching for your eyebrows, waiting for the lights to come up? This is a common experience in many places. But at Fontbonne, we're committed to providing a different kind of experience. Our students and faculty members are dedicated to making sure that everyone gets the chance to enjoy a night on the town. So whether you're looking for a night out on the town or just want to catch a show, come on down to Fontbonne and see what all the excitement is about.

Sincerely Yours,

Mary Lee

On the Eve of Thanksgiving

Once a year, we gather together to give thanks for all of the blessings in our lives. It's a time to reflect on the past year and look forward to the new one. This year, we're especially grateful for the opportunity to spend time with family and friends. Whether you're at home or away, we wish you a happy Thanksgiving and a wonderful holiday season.

Second Chances

Sometimes, we get a second chance at life. It's a reminder that things don't always have to be perfect and that there's always the possibility of redemption. So today, we're taking a moment to appreciate the second chances that we've been given. Whether it's a second chance at love, a second chance at happiness, or just a second chance at life, let's make the most of it.

Senior Writes Parody To Further School Spirit

Fontbonne students have been working hard to create a new parody of a well-known song to further school spirit. As part of the Homecoming festivities, the parody has been performed at various events throughout the week. The students have been very creative and have come up with a lot of great ideas. We're looking forward to seeing how it all comes together on Friday night at the Homecoming football game.
