Varsity Team Begins Work In Basketball

Squad Has Splendid Showing, Helped by Old and New Members

The Varsity Basketball Squad is beginning its second session with a good showing for a fine team by means of a rounding-up of the ex-proved players of last year's team and the fresh players of the new members.

Fights of the roster list on the box line that were players last year, are Tyre H. Williams, center; James P. Anderson, left end; Robert H. Rolfe, left half; R. E. Nightingale, right half; and C. B. Smith, right end.

New members of the roster list who have not appeared on the box line yet are: Harry W. Smith, left half; Charles F. Rogers, center; and Leonard M. Wilson, right end.

Faculty Attends Modern Languages Convention

At the forty-ninth meeting of the Missouri Language Association, held in St. Louis Friday and Saturday, the Missouri school represented by Dr. E. F. H. Bouck, chief of the Department of English, and Miss May L. Davis, instructor in English, was represented by Dr. E. F. H. Bouck, who was a member of the executive council of the convention.

President B. L. Johnston was present at the convention and was received with much interest by the members.

Central Committee Must Select Miss Moser, Appointments for "The Constitution"

Today is the last day for the submission of the Moser candidates to the central committee of the Missouri Language Association. The direct, Dr. Ralph H. Moser, will then select his candidates and present them to the central committee for consideration.

Methods of Expression

According to Professor H. A. C. MacCulloch, sociologist at the University of Pennsylvania, "The Constitution" is one of the most important works in the field of sociology. It is a study of the working of political institutions, and its principal conclusions are that institutions are the product of human beings and are determined by human nature.

The Constitution was first published in 1787, and has been reprinted numerous times since then. It is considered one of the most influential works in the field of sociology, and has been studied by scholars for over 200 years.

First All: School Christmas Party Will Be Held Dec. 21.

A perfect gift for the businessmen and women of the city will be provided by the Junior Choral Club at the Annual Christmas Party to be held Thursday evening, Dec. 21, at 7:30, in the gymnasium. This year marks the 80th year the school has been in existence and the Junior Choral Club will take part in this holiday party, for it has previously sponsored only the junior choir. Gifts will not be given as usual, but the packages will be provided by representatives of stores and dealers.

Mary Jane Scott, Mary Margaret Mahoney, Carole McMullan, and Sallie Lorus will charge the entertainment from time to time or throughout the night.

A man will be charged for each table, and the table and clothing store are to be provided by the Junior Choral Club. The proceeds of table fees will be given to the St. Lawrence Hospital.

Famous “Tish” Makes Appearance on Air

New York, Dec. 15 (W.R.V.).—Mary Roberta (“Tish”) Robins, known to the WFAV Boys and Girls, appeared on the Sunday morning broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System, from 10:00 to 10:30. The broadcast was a part of the Christmas program on Saturday evening.

The “Tish” Robins show has been broadcast from the Columbia Theatre by Mary Roberta Robins and her group of students, from 10:00 to 10:30.

Orchestration Students Hear Demonstration

The class in orchestration, taught by Miss Helen John, yesterday heard a demonstration of various orchestral instruments which they play in the orchestra. The demonstration took place Monday evening, regular concert period, Dec. 16, 1938.

Miss Helen John is advised that the music element of the city school is outstanding in the city school system.

Students Memoralized

The late ornamental glass artist, Paul Revere, was killed in a tragic accident this week.

Paul Revere, a well-known artist, was killed in the making of a glass figurine. The accident occurred in the studio of the artist, who was known for his fine work in the field of glass art.

GREETINGS!

Dear Fellow Students:

May the renewed celebration of the first coming of the King of Kings bring You all greater faith, happiness, and peace. That these true qualities may be found in unlimited measure in your hearts, thus making you all "happy persons" in the fervent wish of the Brotherhood of Our Lady. (Signed) Jane O'Connel, Prefect.

Dear Fellow Students:

May Santa Claus bring you a smooth and successful holiday season. May the New Year bring you happiness and success. We wish you every victory for exceeding your highest expectations in every contest. (Signed) Benedict Beder, Pres., Alumni Association.

Dear Readers:

May the Child Christ, His Blessed Mother, and St. Joseph bring you all the happiness and health that were present in the stable at Bethlehem on that first Christmas day of our Lord. I hope that Santa Claus brings you everything you wish for and that you have a grand time over the holidays. (Signed) Mary Jane Hine, Editor of The Font.

VOX STUDENTI:

The Font will not assume responsibility for the opinions voiced in this column. Such opinions are solely those of the writer.

Dear Editor:

At the last meeting of the Fons Club a discussion arose as to the best and the most "streamlined" form of composition in plan and line technical terms. In other words, we thought we would like to see the Font take on the typography of the St. Louis Globe.

The meeting ended without any definite result being arrived at, and so I am wondering if the staff had done something about it. I have been looking at some of the exchanges in 49 and have found that their type setting was done by a new make-up, however, I am heartily in favor of trying this experiment, just for one issue. What do you think? Progressive.

Dear Editor:

I would greatly appreciate your printing the following letter in your pre-Spring portion of the Font:

Dear Santa Claus,

Unlike other boys and girls, there is only one thing I want you to bring me this Christmas. It is something that would prove invaluable to me and every member of my family. And, oh, I would be so grateful to you for it, for the rest of my life because would be such a lasting gift.

Santa Claus, I'm trying to say, I really truly want an "electric" car. Since I don't happen to live on the North Pole, I happen to know where you can get one for just $275, and they are all electric. They remove every speck of dirt in just a few minutes, and maybe our children (14,000 books) don't get dust covered with it all the time.

Very truly, Daniel. I'm beseeching you, please don't forget me Christmas night. My chimney will be waiting.

Yours truly, The Library.

Dear Editor:

Being a newcomer in the school, I did not know until recently what the usual custom is for celebrating Christmas at Southern. I am so glad that this year we are having an all-school party instead of individuals for each class. It's a grand idea, and I think that we should all give three cheers for the Student Council for making it a success.

A Freshman.

Glimpses...

Don't Talk About That Woman

In the Middle Ages, the men all made their wives' names in little hair styles in their clothing, thus making the woman all "happy persons" in the fervent wish of the Brotherhood of Our Lady. (Signed) Jane O'Connel, Prefect.

As One College Boy To Another

The debating team of Harvard University is looking forward with interest to its next debate. It will take place at Newfot, Mass., with the state ministers debating team. We doubt the Norfolk boys will be slain for this battle of wits.

Children A La Florentine

Helen Hayes, the actress, recently entertained two small girls at dinner in her kitchen. Notice that they were not at a loss as to eating their chicken, she placed her up in her fingers. Her guests did likewise. When they had finished, the girls began looking around for a place to put their bones, but Miss Hayes, always the proper hostess, immediately tossed hers over her shoulder into the coals.

Jewelry Inhibited

Here is an interesting bit of information. Just to give you some of the jewels worn by the stars. Some of the oldest forms of life in the world are preserved in amber. Scientists say that about 100,000,000 years ago, the amber-colored sand of the Jordan River was covered with a layer of asphalt. Looking closely at the stone, you may be able to distinguish small insects and wings of the prehistoric creatures.

Scaited With A Kiss

Have you ever wondered how the letter "kiss" is written on a postcard? Often in the old days, when people could not write and wished to send a manifestation of good faith to an ally, they drew in an "X" on a piece of paper and then kissed it.

Sincerely yours,

The Other Spook.
