Fire In Hotel Fires To Waken Editors At Press Convention

This brings to a close a bit of the story of what the bugs are. We don’t know why, and you shouldn’t know why.

“We’re going to talk to the editors at the convention. We’re going to talk to the editors at the convention. We’re going to talk to the editors at the convention. We’re going to talk to the editors at the convention.

Reporters Track Down Dramatic Director And Asks Pertinent Questions

By Dorothy Godby

In November, 1927, an investigator for the U.S. Department of Labor, who examined the records of various labor unions, discovered that some of the unions were not paying the minimum wage to their workers. The investigator then wrote to the National Labor Union and asked for information about the unions’ activities.

Speaking of “Labor,” Mr. Malone, a member of the Missouri State Teachers Association, who is also a member of the Missouri State Teachers Association, said:

Miss Malone adds: “We need you more than ever. We need you more than ever. We need you more than ever. We need you more than ever.

Miss Malone adds: “We need you more than ever. We need you more than ever. We need you more than ever. We need you more than ever.

Alumna Writes From War Zone

"Cost is now over $30 a ton. They say that we are getting about six for these days, and I'm inclined to believe it. The news is good. They still write Mother Mary of St. Acheiles, P.M.M., to her sister, Sister John Marie, of St. Joseph's Academy faculty, St. Joseph's. In the past two years, the former Emily Riley, A.B., St. Connell, has been a great help. Our poor brothers, the Chinese, are to be pitied. They are not too well. We are all right, but no one is safe, school is not well established. Schools teach all ages."—Sister Emily Riley, St. St. Connell.

"Alumna On Kipling"

"One of the most famous poets of all time, Kipling, was recently visited by us, through the courtesy of his publisher, Messrs. Macmillan. It seems that the author of "The Jungle Book" and "The Second Jungle Book" is as popular today as he was when he first made his debut. His latest work, "The Golden Arrow," is a masterpiece of poetry, and it is certain to be as popular as his earlier works."

New Sociological Novel Out Tomorrow

"Flash Is Not Life, a new Catholic novel by John Stuart Mill, will be released tomorrow, according to the announcement of the publisher."—The Font

"The author has been in close contact with a youth movement in one of our large cities. He has had contact with Christians and has been a follower of their methods of interpreting the philosophy of their faith. With this background the author has written a novel that shows the need for a new and better way of interpretation."

"The story centers about a charming and brilliant student, Tadros, who is an expert in the Catholic faith and guides his fellow students in their studies."—The Font
