Welcome - Dads!

The Parents-Daughter Banquet, the first affair of the kind in the history of the school, was held last Wednesday night in the Dilling Room in Ways Hall, with two hundred girls and daughters attending. All sat in the places assigned to them, where they were seated in position in the dining room.

The evening proceeded merrily with comments along the lines of "Let’s Call You Sometimes" and "Drown by the Old Mill Stream." The scene of a afternoon has set the scene.

Prepare to Sacrifice!

During Lent, it is customary for Catholics to do something special for God. Since Lent is a time of extra penance, this is a natural inclination but very often these acts are not the sacrifices they might be.

This year, do something positive instead of the usual procedure of depriving one's self of material wants. A daily visit to Christ in Holy Communion is far better than continued abstention from candy bars or desserts. One no longer thinks of a girl who gives up such things and at the same time is uncharitable to her neighbor and neglects her school work. Lent should be a time when everyday actions are as nearly right and pleasing as possible. In the sight of God, a girl is more acceptable if she tries to improve herself internally, rather than concentrating on the outward, surface actions that mean nothing unless backed by purpose.

What is easy for one girl may be twice as difficult for another. Do not gauge your choice by the customary practice of others during Lent. Ask yourself if I am doing the thing to impress others or am I doing this for God?

This is Catholic Press Month!

Archbishops and bishops of America Catholic Press Month in 1921, they realized its importance as a background for the Catholic home of mind. There is always a need for a worthy press, one that does not consider class distinction and whose policy is promoted by religious motives of freedom and justice.

Such a press is within the scope of everyone. It is not only an outlet for Catholic action, but also a supplement to our religious education, for the week's sermon from the pulpit can hardly combat in a half hour all the evil that threatens the young. The Catholic viewpoint is always an uplifted and ethical one and it is in this respect that Catholic philosophy differs from others.

The Catholic church stands alone in its struggle to retain the immortality of the soul against the base ideas of materialism.

Underlying the announced and immediate war aims of belligerents in the present world war, certain philosophies are forming which may be the basis for the new order of peace-time thought. It is the mission of the Catholic press to fix in the mind of every Catholic the principles of democracy and freedom of thought that will undoubtedly be questioned during post-war adjustment. Consequently it is every Catholic's duty to listen and read the word of the Catholic press and to approve the purpose of our idea in life—sacrifice our country.

Tomorrow we celebrate George Washington's birthday. The Lease-Lend bill is being debated in the Senate. What would the ghost of George Washington say were he to wonder into the halls of Congress and find that the war was happening to democracy since his day?
