LET'S TALK IT OVER...

They're Ger: 'You know, I've got a new sporting goods store to open. I've been thinking about it for a long time, and I think it's the perfect opportunity.'

1961 A.D.

It is quite early now, this early April morning. Some little birds are playing tricks. Those old birds! Yes, they were probably a earlier ones. Sometimes I wonder if birds were a different species. Perhaps they are. I am still studying birds. I am still studying birds...

The quiet grey morning makes its way through the summer and gently caresses the earth. Near the small stream, the sounds of nature fill the air... It seems as if you can hear every sound...

 Academics Notes

There was a notice to the students about the library closing today. The notice said that the library would be closed early in the afternoon.

The book will be open, however, if a student wishes to study. The library is open for this purpose.

Vox Studenti

The Font will not name responsible persons for the opinions voiced in The Font, since it appears as it speaks through the voices of those who write for it.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Surprised? Surprised? Who would have thought that the Font would appear in this manner? But, I'm sure you would agree that the ideas expressed are ideas of the average student.

We have all heard the phrase "You can't please all the people all the time." But do you know how difficult it is to please all the people some of the time? It is hard to please all the people some of the time.

We, as students, have a responsibility to express our thoughts and opinions. We should not be afraid to speak our minds, even if it means disagreeing with others.

Sincerely,

The Sweet Chair

most lovely Mary!

Clothed in Purity’s gown, replete with mantles of blue, Mary was created. As a white dove spread its wings of peace over a disturbed world, so a mystical rose rose to gladden the sad hearts of man, as the Lamb of God to participate in the Redemptive Society, she came down on earth.

Such joy must have filled the hearts of earthy creatures when she came among them. The season clothed herself in Springtime to greet her. The heavens became more radiant, reflecting her purity in its glow of blue, the flowers bloomed forth to catch a glimpse of one more innocent than themselves.

So kind was God to her for with her for even a such time — she was the most perfect creature amidst of His Work. Just for us. To help us. To show us how our salvation and sanctification are more evident as we do the good of others.

The College year is still going on. Mary must be approaching the end of her studies.

June is a fast approaching date, and it is much concern to the Fontbonne girls, especially the seniors. That day arrives, another academic year will be completed, and the college will be less mentally strained.

From now on, until then, we are still twenty-three actual school days, during which we must not entertain the slightest hint of an epidemic of spring fever.

We owe it to ourselves to continue to the best of our ability in getting the most of our college education.

It is our duty to our parents, who have faith and pride us to make a good showing. We must consider ourselves in the future as responsible women upon whom others will rely for teaching and example, the perfection of which we, as college girls, will receive at Fontbonne.

Let's really show those who are skeptical about the ability of our generation that we're made of the same stuff that we can stick to a job until it is completed. This job is the job of text book absorption.

w ell I learn too!

The experience of traveling to supplement the academic education has been long emphasized. When the opportunity of observing one's own culture and the local about which we learn or study is presented, very often the pleasure, over what we learn. The papers are all due on the 24th of this month. If they are not turned in, they will be considered late and will be marked as such.

Be sure to keep this in mind. If you are not sure, you may check with the professor or the university registrar. It is important to turn in your papers on time.

Sacrifice Is Theme of Sodality Play

"In Life's Glad Morn" Given at Assembly

"Sacrifice is the keynote of love, and sacrifice is love in action," said Dr. S. C. D'Eve, in his address to the members of the Sodality, the全校性的 student sodality, at the annual assembly on Thursday, April 10. The play, "In Life's Glad Morn," was founded on the basis of a life of sacrifice and service to God and humanity.

The play, as the above speech would indicate, consisted of a selection of beautiful and inspiring passages from the Bible, as well as some original compositions. The cast of the play was composed of the members of the Sodality, under the direction of Dr. D'Eve.

Poll Shows Eleven Percent of College Men Will Be In The Army by 1941

AUSTIN, Texas, April 19—Colleges and universities across the country will see an increase in the number of students enrolling in military programs this spring, if the present trend continues. According to the annual report of the National Student Service, more than 900,000 students are enrolled in military programs. Of these, nearly 11 percent are enrolled in the military programs of colleges and universities.

Lest We Forget Mr. Clemens, or, What's New in the Economics Dept.

Should we be elated to pass a new law for the promotion of peace in the world? If so, we must do something about it. The world is looking to us for leadership, and we must show that we mean business.

For over ten years Mr. Clemens has been a leader in the field of economics. He has been a voice of reason and moderation in the world of commerce. He has been a friend to all nations, and a friend to all men.

WHY I'M WHAT I AM TODAY, OR, MY DAY AT A CLIP JOINT

Auntie Raisin got down to business immediately. She offered her services to the community. She said, "I have been thinking about this for a long time. I want to help people."

"What do you think we should do first?" asked the local politician.

"I think we should start a food bank," replied Auntie Raisin.

"Great idea," said the politician. "We can also organize a clothing drive."
