See "Seven Little Rebels"
Tomorrow Afternoon
Proceeds Will Be Donated To United Charities Drive

After a four month of rehearsals and two weeks of house, the Sport Department is ready with its final production of the year. The play, entitled "Seven Little Rebels," was written by Rosemary Bailey and will be given tomorrow night at 8:15 in the Little Theatre. Rosemary Bailey, Marie Mace, William Mace, andalles members of the cast, are expected to be present. The entire proceeds will be donated to United Charities.

This is the first attempt by the Sport Department to design a musical comedy play with adult roles. Although "Seven Little Rebels" was written especially for acting, it is not suitable for the purpose of which it has been written. The play was written as a center play because of its worth to the theater of any age. An added feature is that one half of the act is an interlude to the play, including a song, a dance, and a set. A slender looking, very Dads and Daughters Dine Dad's Love, Mr. T. C. Scott, and Mrs. C. E. Scott, were shown at the end of the week at Temple, and will be given tomorrow night at 8:30. Half of the cast will be from the theatre and the other half will be from the drama department.

The play is divided into three acts. The first act will be by the students in the theatre department, and the second act will be by the students in the drama department. The third act will be a combination of both. The play is directed by William Mace.

Dear Editor:

I am writing to express some concern about the state of the orchestra at Fontbonne College. Over the last few years, the orchestra has struggled to attract new members and maintain its numbers. As a current member of the orchestra, I feel it is important to bring this issue to the attention of the administration.

There are several factors contributing to the decline in participation. First, the required classes for music majors do not include enough time for students to practice and perform in the orchestra. Additionally, there is a lack of public interest in attending orchestra concerts, which can lead to low attendance and a lack of support for the program.

In my opinion, the administration should consider offering more flexible scheduling for orchestra rehearsals, and also consider the possibility of offering non-majors the opportunity to participate in orchestra as an extra-curricular activity. Moreover, promoting the orchestra more actively on campus could help attract new members.

I hope that the administration will take these concerns seriously and make efforts to improve the situation. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

From Taps To Reveille
Do You Sleep?

By Miss O'Quinney

Miss O'Quinney remarks: Do you know of anyone who sleeps through that 11:00 p.m. call and never wakes up in time for the 5:00 a.m. call? There are not enough of them to make a very large group, but when you consider that you're not very original, because it's 80% of all the girls who are in favor of the notion, too.

The Editors proportion, although 40% of our students are required to attend the Call to Military, is a minimum requirement for that activity. Imagine all the “moming” girls who would have to spend a straight-working day without sleep. A lash-up of the word “rest” would put them on a straight-working plan.
