Sodality Union Plans Holy Hour

The annual Holy Hour open to the College Sodality Union will be held in the Arts School Chapel, Administration Building of St. Louis University at 7 p.m. on New Year's Eve. Every member of the various college sodalities is invited and urged to attend.

The service will include the reading of an address by a nationally known speaker, with prayers led by a representative of each sodality, and music provisioned. In addition, the service will offer light refreshments and a debate on the theme of the event.

A NOTE OF APPRECIATION

The Font staff would like to thank Sister Joseph Alphonse and the other members of the faculty for their kindness and cooperation in getting out this issue.

Juniors Reveal to College

On Dec. 6, Rose McNamara, president of the Junior Class, formally invited the Junior Class and the underclassmen to the annual pep rally to be held on the softball field as part of the pep rally, February 8, 1966. The plans are under way and committees have been appointed. The dates committee is already chosen for every girl.

In spite of various restrictions, the program will be formal and popular songs will be chosen by the occasion. With Rose McNamara as chairman, the following committees have been appointed: Chairman of the hotel committee is Mary Jane Murphy, with Mary Ann Hurley as her helper. Key terms are in charge of the ticket arrangement with Earl Sehner, Louise Fandel, Mary Ann Hurley, and Mary Anna Hurley as alternates. Chairman of the music committee is Mary Ann Hurley, with the following committee members: Mary Jane Murphy, Rose McNamara, and Mary Ann Hurley. Chairman of the decoration committee is Anne Coyle, with the following committee members: Rose McNamara, Mary Jane Murphy, and Mary Ann Hurley. AND THE LIGHT SHINETH IN THE DARKNESS

Christmas is the time for all men to open their hearts, to bring cheer to those who have little to be cheered about. Christmas is eternal because it is the birthday of Christ, the Incarnation, the moment when our Lord can take on the eternal beauty of Christmas from the hearts of men. Somewhere on Leyte, on Guadalcanal, in France, and in England there will be Christmas, wherever the heart prepares to receive Him, He will come.

On Christmas Day in a water-flooded foxhole, in cold mud and Nazi prison camps, in snow-covered Alaska, or on the high seas, and in the blood-scarred battlefields all over the world, our boys will be dreaming of the happy American Christmas they used to know. And with that dream a warm glow will spring up in their hearts burning into a bright warm flame—a flame of determination to bring the glow back to the world that existed on that day long ago when God's Son was born.

WHAT DOES '45 HOLD FOR YOU?

In a couple of weeks the bells will ring out again and the year 1944 will pass out of your life into the never-never land. So you want to do something big and inspiring to commemorate the birth of a brand new year. Maybe you need advice. You might have even considered making New Year's resolutions. Well, don't. Don't, because you know good and well that you can't keep them. You aren't ready to conquer the world yet. Just try to conquer yourself instead.

You've no angel you know. Even if you go to Mass every morning and walk the aisles of the temple with every inch of your body, you're no angel. You're impatient, and you're mean, you keep your temper, you're untractable, you don't study as you should; you complain about everything everywhere; and, after a week or two of Sundays, you beg God to see that this war is soon over—once a week on Sundays.

So you'll give them all up and go to Mass and Hadk Command every day, rain, snow, or sleet, and be a model character—every little thing—no matter how small. And even take two bags. Take one. Crush it out until you know it's done and that vital part of you is off. As you take that last bit swallowed down your throat, did you stop to think of the men who can't stand Sister Blank's classes, or Sister Smith's novices' manhood? Try for one day to think only kind thoughts of everyone you meet. Just try to be a model and to be a model character. Try to think of others instead of yourself, and to think of the others.

Try for one day to do something good for someone you know. Don't try to be a model and to be a model character. Try to think of others instead of yourself, and to think of the others.

THE TRUE SIGN TO ALL

The little French children in a world of peace sang their folk songs to welcome the Pere Noel; the boys and girls of Spain eagerly awaited the visit of the Three Kings; the kids of America were happy to think of the good gifts they might receive from Santa Claus. There will be Christmas, however, in the hearts of children who have never seen a Christmas tree, or Santa Claus, or St. Nicholas, or whatever name we wish to give him, in a really secondary symbol of Christmas. The true sign of this joyous season, has been handed not only from the hearts of children but also from the minds of adults, by those who wish to set themselves up as gods of the earth.

Christmas, Christ's birthday, is regarded by a pagan world simply as another day on which to murder, steal, and slander: as long as people believe in a well-lighted cathedral or in a hidden chamber in a dark cave, kneel before the altar and give the world will rise again, and His messenger of joy will return to the hearts of all little children who will have no formal feast.

shavings

There is always the matter of cutting down on shavings. Shaving, whether it be with straight razor or electric, is a matter of personal preference. There is no one right way to shave, but if you want to be efficient and thorough, you should have a good, sharp razor, a good, smooth, and well-lubricated blade. If you don't, you'll probably have a hard time to get your shaves done right.

THEY TELL OF OUR JOY ON THIS CHRISTMAS DAY

They tell us that we are in the time of peace, yet we are far from the land of peace. "The world is a stage, and all the men and women that walk the stage are merely actors." The world is a stage, and we are all actors, playing our parts in the great drama of life. We are not alone, for there are others playing their parts beside us. We are not alone, for we are all part of a great drama, a drama that has been written and acted by many peoples over many years. We are not alone, for we are part of a great drama, a drama that has been written and acted by many peoples over many years.

"It's a frightful shame..." that is about a dozen cases of those cannot-see-what-they're-eating types (as they call them) that I admire. And not only the good-looking and well-dressed ones, but also those who are less fortunate. All of them have their special ways of dealing with this problem. And I was wondering if you had any suggestions for improving the situation?

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year

DEAR SANTA:

There comes a time in every year
When Christmas presents may be given.
Everyone should make a list
And be sure there’s nothing missing.

We want the clothes and other things
That Christmas season usually brings.
But this year it is different;
We’re in the act of saving war.

So we pray you’ll find a way
That will suit both of us.

Trim the Tree Today

By Mary Spickard

Tune three weeks before Christmas—our war-time Christmas—this year is the season to start our recreation. The problems of hand are these:

1. Where to get the tree from?
2. Where to hang lights so that when it’s dark...
3. How to fix broken tree stand in order to use it again this year.
4. How to find time to fix the broken tree stand.

Everyone is busy. No one can just cry ‘Too many things to do’. Everyone is busy. Everyone is too busy to worry about Christmas and everything is changing. Everyone is happy now.

WHAT FONTOBNE GIRLS PLAN FOR CHRISTMAS VACATION

As the Christmas season rolls ever
The vacation bell is ever closer and closer.
Counting the days till the end of the school year.

Mary Spickard is going to travel to the East Coast to see her family. She is planning to spend Christmas with her family and will return to school on January 3rd.

Christmas is a time to spend with family and friends. Whether you are at home or away, the holidays are a time to remember.

Deck the Halls With Bells and Holly!

From Mars to S. Campus

by DR. XLIERS

As a spectator from another planet, I had the sensation to be windows a remote galaxy happening recently on a college campus in the United States. It was called "Winter Formal," and I dropped in just as a group of guests was being gathered around a large banquet table. There were tables all around, filled with decorations and food. Suddenly, I heard a song being sung by a group of people in the corner, and it was "Deck the Halls." The mood was joyous, people were dancing and laughing. Then, I saw a group of people in the center of the room holding up a sign that read "Happy Holidays." Submitted by: John Doe

FONTOBBES JAN ARDEN GETS ASSIGNMENT DONE

There it was in black and white: "Final Exam. Waiting Room:" In fact, yesterday, the Press Room was abuzz with activity. June, just an ordinary reporter, was assigned the famous Jane Arden. She didn't expect to find a typewriter but was instead tasked with interviewing her. This was an unexpected twist in her career, and she approached the editor with trepidation. The editor was delighted and handed June an assignment to interview Jane Arden. June was surprised and asked the editor, "Where do I start?" The editor replied, "That's for you to determine. Think about what you can ask her."

Seven Flights To Go

Carrie Wells walked by and said, "It's almost time." The broadcast was set to begin in ten minutes. Carrie sat down on the corner of the desk, a classic typewriter in front of her. She began to type: "Hi Jane, what do you think of the new year?"
