Father, Forgive

Lost is reassuring, isn’t it? Or is it?
The little things we give up, we are so very important after all?
We offer up easily. Christ’s life was not very sweet.
We miss that ice cream; how Christ’s lips burned for a cool sip of water while hanging on the cross.
We long for that cigarette; the flame of Christ’s eyes is burning for us.
The pretty movies is a must; and yet, the Way of the Cross was the greatest drama ever produced.
The Stations of the Cross are difficult to appreciate; they were a sacrifice for Christ too.
The Rosary is troublesome to say; Mary’s beads of life were pierced by seven swords.
We didn’t intend to say a solemn word shooting off that gun. How cold the hearts of the people were to their Redeemer.
Lost isn’t such a burden, is it? If you think it is, may He say “Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.”

When Asked to Make Signs Rosemary Can’t Say No

“Don’t talk!”

That is the only sign anyone asked about Rosemary Lantos, or expected her to answer. For months, not many people on campus knew about her. She’s been Rosemary for these years.
She’s always around when there’s something going on. Friends will call her. It is the abundance of her many talents which causes the ball-and-hurricane bolts at Fontbonne. Any ability to do almost anything combined with her lack of ability to say no when someone asks her to make a poster for them keeps Rosemary busy.

Rosemary, the art director of Rosemary’s art is the design for the Fontbonne bookstore.

You underestimate her without a smile and she is always ready to help and get from a casual acquaintance to her brother, a low student at Washington University. She always steps forward when someone meets a friend and asks for an account for the Art Club. She is always around.

If you’ve ever seen her daily chalk art on the board, she has a special touch. She is a very good teacher.

Rosemary has a number of interests. Recently she started a record collection which now numbers three records. She dislikes eating eggs, but she likes eating ice cream.

Music in the Air

Another tradition may be born at Fontbonne. Bands and student volunteers will present an all-student musical production. This is a step forward and can be the first of many annual musicals.
Its aim is to increase school spirit. The team work, the hours spent for rehearsals, re-arranging, directing and getting everything in order, the spirit of give and take-necessary to make the musical a success will add even more than school spirit to Fontbonne.

The finished production should be fun for those who made it and a satisfaction and relief for the ones who had any part in presenting it. It will be a proof that Fontbonne is equal to other schools who present all-student productions. Above all, this musical should show that Fontbonne girls are rising, that they can accept responsibility and that they are capable and dependable enough to originate and carry it out.

This first all-student musical is very significant in the history of the school. Its leaders should be congratulated and everyone should help to make this an eventful year. A band has been part of Fontbonne can be proud.

The Font wishes the cast luck in its thoughtful venture.
Navy Blue Appears As Basic Spring Color; Coming Easter Styles Feature "New Look" Font Easter Parade Late Plates BY GERRY ALFERT

For three years I have been trying to obtain the record "Get" it by Tommy Dorsey and Big band until a few weeks ago I was only given that for my inquirers on "New Look" and I was so happy that record as if anyone else has a favorite supposedly unobtainable record I will do anything with all the re-issues you might be lucky too.

In reference to new recordings I think there are a few of them such as the "Lion's" record "New Look, Pretty, and I Love You" and "Arthur's Theme" which should be all that not better than "How to Be a Pretty Girl" because the 1945 Forty Five are really pitching to that distinctly good style. Making the record itself.

Danny Kaye and the Andrews Sisters are coming in with "House of Blues" and "Get it" from France, and in "It's a Tramp, Tramp" which is probably in a hit. If it comes out at all the record itself is not. Also the recent sensation in the States "We'll Sing Again" has got a new recording of "Sunburned Girl Friend" in the Maltese Brok and both going out on different labels with "You Turn the Other on Me" and the implication of the title will sure be realized.

It's a Great Day For Erin's Girls

There's something about March that brings out the Irish and as you can imagine it's every St. Patrick's Day, March 17th, and that's why Erin's Girls have an "O'Leary's" every single day.

For the benefit of those who don't know what goes on behind the walls of Airties Park and think that's just another stupid amount of ticket sales, I call your attention to this week's "St. Patrick's Day" offering on "Our Daily" just imagine that's a stranger in St. Louis and you're going to be at the Parkhouse, you're going to be at the Parkhouse, you're going to be at the Parkhouse, you're going to be at the Parkhouse. I know it's not a lot different from the outside but there are.
