Nina National Delegates Return From Istanbul

(Nina News Bureau) Representatives of the United Nations National Student Association have just returned to the United States, where they attended the Fourth International Student Conference. This month, the largest and most representative body of its type ever to be assembled, featured the participation of the United Nations National Students from all areas of the world.

Since its inception four years ago, the conference meets in different countries and has grown from its original membership of three national delegations. The purpose of the conference was to promote international understanding, to encourage students to work together, and to further the cause of peace and cooperation among nations.

The conference was attended by students from all over the world, including representatives from Asia, Europe, Africa, and the Americas. The delegates discussed a wide range of issues, including the role of the United Nations in promoting world peace and development, and the importance of education and youth participation in international affairs.

The conference also featured a variety of cultural events, including concerts, dance performances, and visual art exhibitions. These events provided a unique opportunity for delegates to explore the diversity of cultures represented at the conference.

Near the end of the conference, a special meeting was held to discuss the future work of the United Nations National Student Association. The delegates agreed to continue their efforts to promote peace and cooperation through education and youth participation, and to work towards the realization of the United Nations' goals of a world without poverty, hunger, and conflict.
Wedding Bells Will Be Heard
Topping the list of engagements and marriages was the wedding of the president of the senior class, Kathleen Madras, and Donald H. S. Fong. Their marriage took place February 6 at 3:30 p.m. in the chapel of Mount Union Presbyterian Church. The officiant was Rev. B. N. Griffiths of Mount Union.

Kathleen Madras, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Madras of Montebello, and Donald H. S. Fong, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fong of San Francisco, were married on February 6.

The wedding was attended by a large group of friends and relatives.

"Words, Words, Words"

Changing Their Meanings

Sometimes words have different meanings depending on the context in which they are used. This is especially true in religious contexts, where the same word can have multiple interpretations.

For example, the word "holy" can mean:

- Sacred or revered
- Devout or pious
- Adoring or Reverent

And the word "sacred" can mean:

- Set apart for religious purposes
- Holy or consecrated
- Devout or pious

It is important to understand the context in which a word is being used to fully comprehend its meaning.

As A Student Are You Interested In Government Affecting Students?

When the 60th Congress was convened last year, it passed a number of important educational legislation. The act increased the maximum amount of time a student can be absent from school without losing credits. It also provided for the appointment of a special commission to study the problem of student loans.

The commission was composed of six members, three of whom were students. The commission's report recommended that student loans be made available to all students who meet certain eligibility requirements.

The bill, as introduced by Rep. McMillan of New York, was passed by the Senate and signed by the President. However, many students have expressed concern about the proposed changes.

If you are a student and interested in government affecting students, please write to your Congressman and Senator for further information.
