Students Against Family Allowance From Government

Carmen Mackichan

The S.A.F.A. of Fresno have declared the desire to go on record as being in favor of money given to the low wage earners of this country, and have taken the necessary steps at Fresno College as well as at the University of California in the United States to do so. However, they have not taken into consideration the evils which may spring out of the actual practice of this program.

The creation of a family allowance system can not only prevent a dangerous idea to the recipients of this allowance but also to the nation as a whole. Here are a few of the arguments against the family allowance system:

1. According to our system of government, the more you do for the individual the more you do for him.

2. When an individual is not able to earn enough wages to achieve a high standard of living, it is the duty of the government to create opportunities so that this individual can have a sufficiently developed and productive money for the achievement of a high standard of living.

3. Has never been and will not prevent any direct evil to individual as such (they will not cease to work for their own ends).

This program of creating a sense of impotence on the part of parents is a belief that no matter how great their interest or effort the government will be obliged to protect them and save them from a high standard of living.

The government will be losing the right and responsibility of parents in order to watch over their children.

1. This type of aid can be turned into a powerful weapon of government control.

2. The government will have the opportunity of placing restrictions on the recipients and the money will be given only if the recipient agrees to the stipulation given to the recipient.

This program is deadly for an individualistic, reasoning nation. We are in no state of readiness to impose such programs on any nation, and if England did not exceed her power as a government of federal control at this point and placed the tax on the landlords to prevent the regular taxation of the tea tax.

For example: The tea tax allows properties that are able to eat easy, but already have the existing problem. It will only be an artificial solution that will not cure and more difficult problems.

2. The family allowance program is an easy but dangerous way to solve the existing problem. It will only be an artificial solution that will not cure and more difficult problems.

For example: In the national debt, it would result in the rise of the entire nation, but still, the national debt would result in the rise of the entire nation.

Cross Section of College Favors McCarthy, But Not His Methods

The final and full list of results to the various sections of the campus has been published, and the students of the Senate and its representatives at the general assembly have been informed. The voting was held on Thursday, April 5, and there was no quorum.

Senator McCarthy is taking advantage of his situation. He is fighting against the country's health and honesty, and his methods are unorthodox.

Fountain Spalshes Wednesday

This year’s Fountain, Fontbonne’s literary magazine, will be distributed to the students in the class of 2013 by May 1. The publication will contain original poetry, fiction, and creative non-fiction written by members of the class. The edition will also include artwork created by members of the class, including paintings, drawings, and photographs.

The editors say that the magazine will be a celebration of the diversity and creativity of the class of 2013.
new paschal candle

The Paschal Candle in the sanctuary of Our Lady of Fatima Church, which has been in Battersea for the past 19 years, is a reminder of the joyful occasion of Easter. It is the candle that will be lit and held on Easter Sunday, signifying the end of Lent and the beginning of the Easter season. The candle is a symbol of the resurrection of Christ and the hope it brings to all who gather for worship.

true greatness in life consists in this...

It was at the conclusion of one of our Lenten prayer services, in which we participated in the celebration of the Passion of Christ, that I witnessed an event that was truly remarkable. The woman who was leading the service was holding a large, beautiful Paschal candle in her hand. She began by asking us to think about the meaning of life and how we can make a difference in the world. She then proceeded to light the candle, symbolizing the beginning of a new era of hope and redemption.

The Paschal candle is a symbol of the light of Christ, which shines upon us and guides us through the darkness of this world. It is a reminder that even in the midst of our struggles, we can find hope and strength in the love and compassion of our fellow human beings.

It is hard to imagine a greater moment of truth and transformation in our lives than the day we turned eighteen. It is a moment when we realize that the world is ours to shape, and we can make a difference in the lives of others.

As we celebrate this momentous occasion, let us remember the lessons we have learned in the past year and the hope that we hold for the future. Let us use this moment to make a positive impact on the world, and to be guided by the light of the Paschal candle.

enlightening book

Abraham Lincoln was a man who knew the importance of understanding the world around him. His famous phrase, "you can't judge a book by its cover," has become a timeless reminder of the need to judge others based on their actions and words, rather than on their outward appearances.

The book "Lincoln's Character" is a fascinating read that explores the life of this great American president. It is a book that is sure to inspire and educate readers of all ages.
