after the smoke has cleared away

My name is Peter and for the record, this is my first and last name. I went to church on Sunday and the church was full. I like to go to church on Sunday. I like to sit and listen to the minister. Sometimes I cry, but I try not to. I just try to listen and understand. I like the sound of the organ and the choir singing. It makes me feel happy. I hope you like going to church too. If you do, let me know. If you don't, that's okay too. I respect your choice.

The Louvre, and Lisieux

Several times now there has been fresh fruit—a suggestion to our American visitors, I presume, that they might do with this. I hope these fruits are available and that they enjoy them.

Radio Station

University Radio, also known as WRU, is planning to broadcast live from Rome on September 28. The broadcast will feature interviews with popular Italian artists and an overview of Italian culture.

Sister John Marie Visits Paris, The Louvre, and Lisieux

In Rome, Joy initially ruled a corner; she found herself to be a somewhat neglected figure. The tourists, however, were quite interested in her. She was able to gather some information and to form a loose circle around her. The streets were not crowded, and the monuments were easily accessible.

The Louvre and Lisieux

The Louvre and Lisieux are two of the most important cultural landmarks in France. The Louvre is home to some of the world's most famous art pieces, while Lisieux is known for its ties to St. Thérèse of Lisieux. A visit to these sites is a must for any visitor to France.
