Superior General Speaks About New Japanese School To Be Opened

The Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet expect to open their first foreign mission—a junior high school for girls in Tokyo, Japan, in April. Mr. Edward Mother Earth, C.S.J., superior general, told the students at a weekly assembly recently:

"I present to you Sisters of St. Joseph who are in Japan studying the language and customs of the country. They will be joined by two other sisters, and the new school, Mother Earth added, who visited Japan last spring with Mother Edward Mother Earth, has been opened.

"The first foreign mission of the Sisters of St. Joseph was at St. Louis, Mo., where the Japanese came from Tokyo, Japan, to live in the U.S. The Japanese then went to France, and from there to St. Louis to continue their education. The Sisters have now taken over and will soon have a mission in Tokyo.

Page "Art For The Grades" Apprentices

If you have heard someone wondering about how to make a decoupage or put a mosaic on a poster, you can be sure that is not for the grades. This is a required course for the education majors, and it is usually full at new experience, since most previous art work has been limited to occasional doodles. A few of the things made by these former artists are artistic future teachers are stick figures that don't just exist but do something, collage, mosaic, still portraits, wire animals, and as a group they help to produce a sense of satisfaction.

If you are in doubt and would like to know what a decoupage or mosaic is, you can probably get someone to encourage someone taking this course, who can tell you. Fast look for someone carrying a large piece of wood, a painting, a sculpture, or somebody heavily laden with hands full of paper machines.
Scholarship Winners Announced

Three high school seniors have been awarded scholarships by the three Catholic women's colleges in the Archdiocese of St. Louis—Fontbonne, Maryville, and Webb.

Lecturer Speaks On Philosophy, Literature

"The philosopher, depends on literature more than any other man, because he is the most knowledgeable about human beings of all. In a language that given to him, and not to his spurious"—said Dr. Thomas D. Langen of the philosophy department of St. Louis University, at last week's assembly.

"On the other hand, the literary critic needs the clear seeing of the philosopher to understand what remains dense or subtle in the gross world or in the Platonic tradition. Liberal education demands the knowledge of both—literature to raise an instinct of experience, and philosophy to give a natural tendency to ideas over problems.

Invitation

If you are interested in attending any of these meetings, you are cordially invited as "Aspects of Literature in a Changing World." To be given by Bres, James W. Schoen, and Dr. Langen, "Dialogue in Existential Philosophy." To be given by Seo, Dr. E. J. Dinc, and J. C. Keyes. May 24, 25, and 26, each morning 10 a.m. at the Center, 3100 Lindell Blvd., at 815.

National Library Week, March 16 To 22

National Library Week is celebrated in March each year to recognize the importance of libraries in our communities. During this week, libraries across the country host special events and programs to celebrate their impact on education, research, and community engagement.
Saint Joseph

The authorities of Saint Joseph are interested in the Church in order that the faithful may celebrate the Feast of Saint Joseph. This year Wednesday in the month.

Saint Joseph is to be the patron of the home and family, and the spiritual father and mother of all souls. The devotion to Saint Joseph is growing in the Church, and the liturgical celebration of the feast day is becoming more widespread.

Parking

FAUCALITY only spells faculty only. V.5.8.5.9.0 spells faculty only. But evidently when some students use the library, they are not parking in the proper area. This is not the case. The students should be more careful and park in the designated area.

Best Sellers Survey Announced by Sign Begins This Month

UNION CITY, N.J. — A new wide-ranging survey of bestselling college books will appear monthly beginning in the March issue of the Sign, national Catholic weekly magazine of 200,000 circulation, it is announced by Rev. Ralph Geor- gia, C.P., editor.

Father Georgia said the survey will be under the direction of Rev. Gerard Rooney, C.P., associate editor in charge of the magazine’s special review section. Initial inquiries in the spring will show that the survey will report on “best-selling” new publications of Catholic books in a special service to Sign readers.

The survey has been a month in the making, both in terms of the volume of sales at all major book stores, and the number of sales in the last half of 1971. The books will be published weekly in the Sign, and the results will be analyzed and presented in the April issue of the Sign.

The books surveyed include a variety of topics, from history to philosophy, from science to religion, and from politics to literature. The survey will provide a valuable resource for educators, students, and libraries, and will help to promote the best and most important works in Catholic literature.

A New Typewriter For Sister Hilda

If you happen to be walking by the parking lot of Saint Joseph’s, you may notice a new typewriter in the hands of Sister Hilda. She has been using the typewriter for several months, and has found it to be very helpful in her work.

The typewriter is a modern model, with a full range of features, and is very easy to use. It is equipped with a built-in word processor, a spell checker, and a dictionary, and is also capable of printing in both English and Spanish.

The poetry award will be offered to the best work of Catholic poetry in any language. The prize amount will be $2,000, and the winner will be announced at the end of the year.

The essay award will be offered to the best work of Catholic essay in any language. The prize amount will be $1,000, and the winner will be announced at the end of the year.

And An Author

Some writers have been known to refer to the author as “the writer” or “the author.” But this is not the case. The author of the novel is known to all as “Mr. Green.”

Mr. Green is a successful writer who has been published in several magazines and newspapers. He has also written several books, including one that was published last year.

The novel has been well received by critics and readers alike. It is a story of love and friendship, and is filled with humor and adventure.

Mr. Green is currently working on his next novel, which is scheduled for publication next year. He is also working on a collection of short stories, which will be published in the fall.
