There participating are the following: Margaret Gann, Patricia Cook, Helene McCafferty, Kath- leen Vrede, Norma Senners, Florence Rhodes, Mary Hoek- ten, Ann Rutt, Charlotte Allard, Carol Lutz, Susan Schlager, and Carol Hohst.

Students Start Annual Drive For Food, Clothing, Toys
Christmas dinner, new clothes, pretty gifts—all these and more will make up our Christmas party this year. But is everyone as for- tunate as we? We know the answer. There are many that re- main without on Christmas. They have no dinner; they have no gifts, and we can help these people!

Again this year the Fontbonne Student in conjunction with the Student Council is sponsoring a drive to obtain clothing, toys, and food for the underprivileged fam- ilies. The clothing and toys may be taken to Ryan 214 at any time.

Each class will provide marked boxes in Fine Arts lounge for the food which will be collected on Tuesday, December 18, and Wed- nesday, December 19. Money col- lected from each class to provide for the boxes will be turned in to class student council representatives. The boxes will be delivered on Friday, December 21.

This year the Fontbonne College Alumni Association will give all the cash earned proceeds received at the children’s Christmas party to the Student Society.

St. Louis Pastor Is Club’s Guest
Sister Bette By is sponsoring a demonstration of liturgical Christmas Mass Monday, December 17, at 3 p.m. in Metallide Hall, belltower. The demonstration will be given by Rev. Augustine Wins- ter, pastor of St. Mark’s parish, St. Louis, and will include dialogue.

The purpose of this date Mass is to show how the congregation can actually participate in the sacrifice as did the Christians of the early days of the Church. These present will be asked to par- ticipate fully in the singing and offering of the sacrifice.

An invitation is extended to all students to attend this unique event.

Frosh Elect C. Poniewaz
The Froshmen recently elected their class officers. They are Carl Pieniak, president; Edith Moe, vice-president; Antalatisa Hahn, secretary; Mary Martin, treasurer.

The chairman for the frosh- men dance have been filled. The two general chairs for Shigolsho Hall are Jean Bayot and Barbara Fuller. The commit- tee chairmen and their respective committee are Susan Morran, orchestra; Elaine Endlitz, Idle; Patricia Child, publicity; Sandra McKeon, decorations; Rene Kime- nado, refreshments; and Elizabeth Oster, cleanup.

The first meeting of these chair- men was held December 12.

Mass, Dinner, Awards For “Music Man” Cast, Crews
Members of the cast of Font- bonne’s “Music Man” and the members of various committees of- fered Mass at Fontbonne on Sat- urday, December 1. Rev. Carl Ture- nese was the celebrant. After Mass the students were invited to a dinner given by Sister Mary Alice, president, in the casters.

Following the dinner, members of the cast presented a remembrance version of “Music Man.” The pro- gram was produced and directed by Grace Cono. All the grace- masts and members of the male cast received certificates of appre- ciation for their many years in Fontbonne.

Fact Sheets On Advent Distributed
An advent wreath, a con- cealed means of helping Catholics realize that the four weeks pro- viding the feast of Christmas are not merely a period of hurry to get ready mechanically, but rather, a period of spiritual preparation for the coming of the Savior. At Fontbonne, information sheets covering the Advent wreath, the project for the bless- ing of the Christmas tree, the story connected with St. Stephen, the first martyr, were distributed in the cafeteria. On campus there are two Advent wreaths, one in Ryan Hall lobby, in front of the Chapel of St. Joseph; the other is in the Fine Arts foyer, in front of the auditorium. Students have been preparing in the project in Fine Arts every day at 10:50 o’clock.

Next week there will be an exhibition in the cafeteria of fra- ditional Christmas decorations and recipes.

A Bibliography
As a result of the recent visit of Sir Arnold Lunn, noted British convert and author, to Fontbonne, students have been more than in- terested in his book and correspon- dence to Graham Greene.

Orchids, Orosthytum Now Grow In New Greenhouse

For some months now the beauty and beauty of beauty of the Orchid nursery has been going on in one corner of the Farmhouse campus. The orchids have been growing, blossoming, and preparing for the annual sale of bulbs and flowering plants. The greenhouse has been a haven for these lovely, delicate flowers, providing a warm, moist environment for their cultivation.

The greenhouse contains a variety of orchid species, including Cattleya, Dendrobium, Encyclia, and Vanda. Each species has its own unique characteristics and requires specific care conditions to thrive. The greenhouse is equipped with a temperature control system, humidity monitors, and a watering system to ensure the orchids receive the ideal growing conditions.

The beauty of the orchids in the greenhouse is truly a sight to behold. The delicate petals and intricate structures of these flowers are a testament to the skill and dedication of the caretakers who nurture them. The greenhouse is not only a place of beauty but also a center of learning, where visitors can learn about the different orchid species and their cultivation techniques.

The greenhouse is open to the public during the annual sale, which is a great opportunity for orchid enthusiasts to purchase their favorite species and take them home to enjoy. The greenhouse is a testament to the beauty and diversity of orchids and their importance in the world of horticulture.

Quips and Quotes

Lucille Bryan, a sophomor, is a candidate for the A.A.C. of the Mount Holyoke 1st Class. She's known as "Lucky" in her campaign.

"Overheard in a Philosophy class:

Student: "Sister, I don't know what I'm looking at, but..."

Sister: "Well, you are in the right place then."

"Benedenfrais, Montes, Carin, Curren, and Moore had attended the annual meeting of the National Student Association held at Wellesley College December 7th.

"Congoing to the Junior's for a special concert:

"The Purdue staff wishes you a "Happy and Merry Christmas.""

A Longing for Home

The topic of "Prophecy" was discussed at the Sunday evening discussion. "Prophets" were seen as those who foretell future events, often with a sense of urgency and guidance. The discussion explored the role of prophecy in different cultures and religious traditions.

The School of Religion's series on "The Language of the Bible" concluded with a focus on the book of Isaiah. "Isaiah's Prophecy" was discussed, highlighting the prophet's vision of a time of peace and justice.

Stuffed Animals' Parade Closes Fete

The annual Christmas dinner for the resident students was held in the main dining hall on December 1st. The theme for the "Parade of Stuffed Animals" was "A Carnival of Toys." The decorations were colorful and festive, with balloons, streamers, and lights creating a lively atmosphere. Each student brought their favorite stuffed animal, and these were displayed around the room, creating a vibrant and cheerful scene.

The dinner was followed by a program of music and entertainment, with performances by the school's choir and orchestra. The evening concluded with a dance, where students had the opportunity to socialize and enjoy each other's company in a festive and joyful environment.

The festivities were a wonderful way to celebrate the holiday season, bringing together the community of students in a spirit of joy and camaraderie. The "Parade of Stuffed Animals" was a unique and creative way to honor the season's traditions and to share the spirit of giving and joy that defines the holiday time of year.

Players Push Three Events

The Football Team has been busy preparing for their next event, which will be a home game against a tough opponent. The team is determined to give their best performance, with a focus on teamwork and strategy.

"The team is working hard to improve their skills and to make sure they are ready for the challenges ahead. They understand that every game is an opportunity to showcase their abilities and to move closer to their goal of achieving victory."
